Wicked Ridge Introduces New Raider CLS Packages and New Accessories

Mogadore, OH. Continuing to expand upon their lineup of affordable, high-quality crossbows and accessories, Wicked Ridge Crossbows will introduce a new Raider CLS crossbow package and an expanded accessory lineup at the January 2013 ATA Trade Show.

New for 2013, the 175-pound Raider CLS™ will be available without their patented ACU-52™ cocking mechanism. The new package will still feature a TenPoint™ 3x Multi-Line™ Scope, a Wicked Ridge 3-arrow quiver, three Wicked Ridge aluminum arrows, and a Wicked Ridge embroidered sling, but it will also include a NEW rope cocker. The new Raider package will retail at $699.

“The addition of the new Raider package complements our existing packages and offers our customers yet another price-option,” said Rick Bednar, Chairman and CEO of TenPoint Crossbow Technologies and Wicked Ridge Crossbows. “We will continue to listen and make changes as we build the Wicked Ridge brand.”

The new accessories will include the NEW rope cocker, which features an abrasion resistant, high-tenacity hunter orange polyester cord and super tough, ST801 nylon plastic handles and hooks. It will retail at $29. In addition, the accessory lineup will include the NEW String Dampening System (SDS), a unique cable-slot mounted string stop that dramatically reduces string noise and oscillation. It will retail at $59.
